 - Olive green PMS 398C in different percentageThe logo can be used in black and white.
6. A CB (Certification Body) that has entered into an agreement with SCCM can use the SCCM logo in relation to the standard and for which it has an agreement with SCCM. The logo can be used on statements and documents that are directly related to SCCM-related activities, for example:
 - certificates issued on the basis of an SCCM certification scheme (ISO 14001, ISO 45001, ISO 50001, OHSAS 18001 and CO₂ reduction management with ISO 14001);
 - letters, offers, audit reports et cetera, provided that they relate to certification according to an SCCM certification scheme;
 - documentation and brochures, provided that they relate to certification according to an SCCM certification scheme;
 - on the CB's website in relation to the use of an SCCM certification scheme;
 - background materials in exhibition stands;
 - other applications in relation to the use of an SCCM certification scheme.

- 7 Subject to conditions, the CB may transfer the right to use the SCCM logo to organisations that have been granted a certificate based on an SCCM certification scheme. These conditions are:
- The SCCM logo can only be used when it is directly linked to information about the certificate issued (the name/logo of the certification body, the certificate number).
 - The use of the SCCM logo (such as format and colour) must meet the requirements of these regulations.
- The CB shall supervise the correct use of the SCCM logo and take appropriate measures in the event of any violation.
8. The SCCM logo cannot be used in a way that could suggest that SCCM is responsible for the outcome of a certification audit, or would approve a certification audit.
9. The use of the logo is not allowed, in any way, for certification bodies that do not have an agreement with SCCM or certification bodies with a preliminary agreement.
10. In the event of incorrect or inappropriate use of the SCCM logo, SCCM may proceed to take the available measures.
11. Any deviation from the conditions of these regulations is only possible with the explicit written permission of SCCM.
12. The board of SCCM may decide to amend these regulations. SCCM will immediately inform all affiliated certification bodies of any amendments to these regulations, stating a transitional period.
